

One-Year Master of Arts in Latin American Studies

at Stanford University

Discover Latin American Studies through Stanford's interdisciplinary curriculum

Specialize in Political Economy, Culture & Society, or Environment & Ecology with a wide variety of elective courses

Work with distinguished faculty representing 23 departments, schools, and research centers on campus

Take classes from Tinker Visiting Professors and collaborate with Visiting Scholars from Latin America

Applicants must be proficient in Spanish or Portuguese and have experience in Latin America or Iberia prior to admission

Financial assistance available for U.S. and international applicants

Optional joint degree programs in Law (JD), Medicine (MD), or Business (MBA)

Application deadline for the 2010-2011 school year:
January 5, 2010

For information, including application requirements:
<http://las.stanford.edu>

Further questions: latinamerica@stanford.edu

To apply: <http://gradadmissions.stanford.edu>

STANFORD UNIVERSITY

Center for Latin American Studies

