for the

College Student Congress

Engage with peers from across the country at the Henry Clay Center's fully-funded public policy summer program!

The College Student Congress brings together 51 of the nation's brightest student leaders – one from each state and D.C. – for a two-week summer program in Lexington, Kentucky and Washington, D.C. to discuss and develop real public policy solutions for current political issues facing our country.

Students engage with peers and professionals from diverse backgrounds and are challenged to listen to those who have different beliefs than their own, to identify common ground and shared goals, to collaborate on areas of mutual benefit, to build relationships based on personal interactions, and to learn the art of cooperation from partisan positions.
