Japanese-American Internment: Topaz Plus
Winter 2011

B. Daynes
Office: 740 SWKT
Office hour: Tuesday 9:30-10:30; 1-2

Class: MW 2:45-3:50
Class room: 280 SWKT

I. The Intent of the Class:

This course is designed to examine the Japanese-American Internment, in the context of American democracy, that affected some 120,000 Japanese-Americans and Japanese aliens between the years 1942 and 1945. While our specific focus in this class will be on the situation at Topaz Relocation Camp, located near Delta, Utah, we will not ignore other important concentration camp sites that aid our understanding of the situation. We will take one Saturday this semester to travel to Topaz to examine the site. Prior to our arrival we will have explored government documents, political and historic assessments, and other analytical research, as well as being able to hear from some of those in our community who were directly connected with the Internment camps. From this exploration, it is my hope that we will all learn more from history so that, in this instance, we will not, in the near future, repeat it.

COURSE REQUIREMENTS:

1) 20% of your grade will be based on:

-Two midterm examinations—worth 10% each—one of which will be administered February 2 and the other will be given March 2 which will include questions based on the readings, discussions, and lectures covered during this time.

2) 20% of your grade will be based on:

-a comprehensive final examination which will assess your integrative knowledge of the readings, discussions, and lectures. It is scheduled from 2:30 until 5:30 on Saturday, April 16. Please do not schedule anything that would interfere with the University schedule.
3) 10% of your grade will be based on a field trip to Topaz scheduled for March 26, 2011. Ms. Jane Beckwith will lead us that day as we walk through the Topaz internment area. Volunteers who are willing to use their automobiles will provide transportation. Attendance for the field trip is mandatory to pass the class. Only a health-related emergency or an official University assignment will interfere with this. In such a case, a second major research paper will be required.

4) 30% of your grade (divided up with 10% on you first draft and 20% on your final draft) will be based on:

   - A 10-12 page (double-spaced) paper focusing on an important topic of Internment. It will be written in stages with the first draft due to the instructor by February 23, and the final draft due on April 4th.

   Your topic should be cleared by the instructor no later than January 31.

   The following format for the paper should be followed:

   1. First construct a thesis statement that you will keep in mind throughout the paper. It can be more than one sentence. In the thesis statement your conclusions should be suggested as well as giving the reader guidelines to your main arguments. It can be put in the form of an if this, then that format, or a Given this, then that format, or it may be in the form of an analytical question or statement.

   2. Your paper must be fully documented with footnotes, endnotes or in-text notes for all quotations, secondary sources and ideas that are not your own.

   3. To write this paper, use outside research material which should include primary sources such as government reports, Acts of Congress, presidential speeches related to Internment, and other primary sources. Secondary sources, as well, can be relied on as long as they are from reputable scholars.

   4. your paper should follow one of the standardize formats, viz., Turabian’s, A Manual for Writers of Research Papers, Theses, and Dissertations, 7th edition; or The Chicago Manual of Style, 15th or 16th edition.

1 This abbreviated listing of guidelines was inspired by a more complete listing first put together by Prof. Ray Christensen in our Department.

2 Outside material would include sources that we are not using in class.
5. The font for the paper should be no larger than "12." In Times New Roman.

6. Please do not use Wikipedia as a source.

7. Make sure there are no spelling, typographical or grammatical errors in the paper. Please number the pages in your paper and staple the pages together. You should also have an unnumbered cover sheet.

8. Present your ideas as clearly as possible. Cut out unnecessary words, and seek to use the "best word" regardless of its length or complexity.

9. Avoid colloquial expressions, trite phrases and inflated jargon.

10. Avoid excessive use of lengthy quotations.

11. Tightly organize your paper, and avoid padding it.

12. Use reasonable size margins and avoid page-long paragraphs.

5) 10% of your grade will be based on:

The amount of reading you do for the course. Completing at least 90% of the reading will give you an A for this part of the course; completing between 80-89% of the reading will give you a B for this part of the course; and completing between 70-79% of the reading will give you a C for this segment of the reading. Any less, you can figure it out.

Each class period I will hand out a roll that you will check as to whether you completed all of the assigned reading for the session. It will be on this roll that the percentages will be figured out.

6) 10% of your grade will be based on:

Regular group reading assignments will be made based on our reading load in the class. Groups will read the assignment, and come prepared to go over the reading with the class and lead a discussion based on the reading. All students are expected to read the material prior to the day the material will be discussed.

III. Grading Policy:

I repeat here the section on what grades mean from the BYU Bulletin: Undergraduate Catalog:
The grade given in a course is the teacher’s evaluation of the student’s performance, achievement, and understanding in that subject as covered in the class. The following adjectives indicated the meaning of the letter grade:

A  Excellent
B  Good
C  Satisfactory
D  Minimum passing
E  Unacceptable

Hence, the grade A means that the student’s performance, achievement, and understanding were excellent in the portion of the subject covered in the class.

The level of performance, achievement, and understanding required to qualify for each grade that carries credit... is higher in a more advanced class than in those classes that precede it, and the student is prepared to work at this higher level.

A Word on Plagiarism, sexual discrimination, and those with disabilities:

STATEMENT REGARDING PLAGIARISM:

While all students sign the honor code, there are still specific skills most students need to master over time in order to correctly cite sources; as well as deal with the stress and strain of college life without resorting to cheating. General information about the honor code can be found At honorcode.byu.edu. Details about Academic Honesty are found in detail at http://honorcode.byu.edu/content/academic-honesty-details.

Writing submitted for credit at BYU must consist of the student’s own ideas presented in sentences and paragraphs of his or her own construction. The work of other writers or speakers may be included when appropriate (as in a research paper or book review), but such material must support the student's own work (not substitute for it) and must be clearly identified by appropriate introduction and punctuation and by footnoting or other standard referencing.

The substitution of another person's work for the student's own or the inclusion of another person's work without adequate acknowledgment (whether done intentionally or not) is known as plagiarism. It is a violation of academic, ethical, and legal standards and can result in a failing grade not only for the paper but also for the course in which the paper is written. In extreme cases, it can justify expulsion from the University. Because of the seriousness of the possible consequences, students who wonder if their papers are within these guidelines should visit the Writing Lab or consult a faculty member who specializes in the teaching of writing or who specializes in the subject discussed in the paper. Useful books to consult on the topic include the current Harbrace College Handbook, the MLA Handbook, and James D. Lester’s Writing Research Papers.
Academic Honesty Details— from the Honor Code Office:

- Direct Plagiarism: The verbatim copying of an original source without acknowledging the source.
- Paraphrased Plagiarism: The paraphrasing, without acknowledgment, of ideas from another that the reader might mistake for your own.
- Plagiarism Mosaic: The borrowing of words, ideas, or data from an original source and blending this original material with one's own without acknowledging the source.
- Insufficient Acknowledgment: The partial or incomplete attribution of words, ideas, or data from an original source.

Plagiarism may occur with respect to unpublished as well as published material. Acts of copying another student's work and submitting it as one's own individual work without proper attribution is a serious form of plagiarism.

Other Academic Misconduct—from the Honor Code Office

Academic misconduct includes other academically dishonest, deceitful, or inappropriate acts that are intentionally committed. Examples of such acts include but are not limited to:

- Inappropriately providing or receiving information or academic work so as to gain unfair advantage over others.
- Planning with another to commit any act of academic dishonesty.
- Attempting to gain an unfair academic advantage for oneself or another by bribery or by any act of offering, giving, receiving, or soliciting anything of value to another for such purpose.
- Changing or altering grades or other official educational records.
- Obtaining or providing to another an unadministered test or answers to an unadministered test.
- Breaking and entering into a building or office for the purpose of obtaining an unauthorized test.
- Continuing work on an examination or assignment after the allocated time has elapsed.
- Submitting the same work for more than one class without disclosure and approval

STATEMENT REGARDING SEX DISCRIMINATION:

Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972 prohibits sex discrimination against any participant in an educational program or activity that receives federal funds. The act is intended to eliminate sex discrimination in education. Title IX covers discrimination in programs, admissions, activities, and student-to-student sexual harassment. BYU's policy against sexual harassment extends not only to employees of the university but to students as well. If you encounter unlawful sexual harassment or gender based discrimination, please talk to your professor; contact the Equal Employment Office at 422-5895 or 367-5689 (24-hours); or contact the Honor Code Office at 422-2847.

STATEMENT REGARDING DISABILITIES:

Brigham Young University is committed to providing a working and learning atmosphere which reasonably accommodates qualified persons with disabilities. If you have any disability which may impair your ability to complete this course successfully, please notify your instructor in the first few weeks of the course and also contact the Services for Students with Disabilities Office (422-2767). Reasonable academic accommodations are reviewed for all students who have qualified documented disabilities. Services are coordinated with the student and instructor by the SSD office. If you need assistance or if you feel you have been unlawfully discriminated against on the basis of disability, you may seek resolution through established grievance policy and procedures. You should contact the Equal Employment Office at 422-5895, D-282 ASB.

V. Required Books for Purchase:

3 Editions other than the ones sold in the bookstore may, of course, be read. Specified pages in the syllabus will only coincide with the edition of the book specified. Many of these books are also in the Library. However, there are many advantages in having your own copy of the book rather than a library edition since I will be calling your attention to particular passages that you may want to mark.
1. Introduction  [Jan. 5]

The syllabus and other material will be handed out. Reading assignments will be made the first day.
