

Gerard Robinson is a former Secretary of Education in Virginia and Florida Education Commissioner. He is a school choice proponent and former president of the Black Alliance for Educational Options. He was selected to be Virginia Secretary of Education for Governor-Elect Bob McDonnell in 2010. He is the Executive Director of the Center for Advancing Opportunity (CAO), a Washington, D.C.-based research and education initiative. He is an advocate for education and criminal justice reform.

Join the BYU Political Review for an evening with

GERARD ROBINSON

in conjunction with the American Enterprise Institute

Wednesday, January 22nd
6:30-7:30pm
KMBL 270

